

LABOR DAY CARNIVAL

A. O. U. W. and Federated Trades Organizations Have the Right of Way This Afternoon and Evening.

Today is labor day on the carnival calendar. By this it is not meant that the players along the midway will more strenuously bowl their "mahvels," or that any of the freaks will be put to work. It means simply that the laboring men of the A. O. U. W. and of the federated trades organizations will hold forth on the street and at the grounds this afternoon and this evening. The day belongs to them and they are enjoying it.

As outlined, the parade given by the workmen was to have started from the Knutsford at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon, following the usual line of march: From the starting point to Second South, to East Temple, to First South, to State, to South Temple, to East Temple, to Second South, to East Temple, to midway.

The first division of the parade, with the band leading, followed by the platoon of police, the queen, her retinue and the prime minister. These leaders of the A. O. U. W. with their emblems came next, accompanied by floats appropriate to the occasion. The third division was made up of the trades floats and members of the federated organizations.

All during the afternoon there has been a goodly crowd at the federated trades hall, where the day's work of the members have served delightful refreshments. The members of the labor organizations have entered into the spirit of the day and will doubtless turn out in full force tonight at the grounds, where Arion and the Rats are expected to do their really good turns. As large a crowd as usual is expected out tonight, and the barker is getting ready to throw out the usual amount of hot air.

None of the midway shows was open this morning or afternoon. It was too hot for very many people to stay down the grounds, and the freaks who were out in full force last night, are expected to do their really good turns. As large a crowd as usual is expected out tonight, and the barker is getting ready to throw out the usual amount of hot air.

The active young secretary of the fair, Hal Clawson, has been knighted as Lord Hastings, the first by his mastery of the grounds, and is proud of the honor. Everybody has been congratulating him today, and he is already reaping the benefits of knightdom.

YELLOWSTONE EXCURSION.

Short Line Has Made It Possible For All to Go.

On August 14th the Oregon Short Line will start from this city its first personally-conducted excursion to Yellowstone park. A very low rate has been fixed in order to make it possible for all to go. Hitherto it has been beyond the reach of common folk to take a trip to this region of nature's wonders, but the rate set by the Short Line brings such an excursion within the grasp of most people. The $56 which the Short Line charges pays fare, for meals, hotel accommodations and other expenses in the park, all the great sights of which are to be viewed. The trip is to occupy nine days.

CRASE TO CUT.

Stabs Proceeds to Make Permanent Freight Rates.

At Chicago tomorrow will be held a meeting which will produce a very great change in freight rates on western roads. Freight representatives of these lines will meet Mr. J. C. Stubbs, who represents Mr. Harriman, and will there and then proceed to instruct these freight agents that they must no longer do any cutting of freight rates. Heavy stockholders in railroads have been watching the effect of the freight rate wars that have been waged within a few years past and they have concluded that the thing must stop. Mr. Harriman has himself given the matter much thought and attention and he came to this conclusion some time ago, and the meeting of tomorrow is bound to bear the fruit which he is determined shall result. The freight rates of the fact that their tenure of office parallels a close observance of the no-cut rule.

Union Pacific Press Excursion.

Green River, Wyo., July 25.—The Union Pacific press excursion left Rawlins this morning. Rain had fallen throughout the night, the first of any consequence in this section for many months, and the air was bracing. The observation car was patronized, however, and the enthusiasm of the tourists was not dampened. The first stop was at Rock Springs, where the Union Pacific coal mines were inspected.

Maloney to be Associated.

T. J. Maloney, former leader of the Democratic party in the county of Arapahoe, will be associated with Harry S. Heath, Senator Thomas Kearns of Utah and others in their new railroad venture in Utah and California, says the Denver Republican. All day yesterday Mr. Maloney and Messrs. Heath and Kearns were in conference and Mr. Maloney said last evening that he would leave shortly for Salt Lake City, where he will assist Mr. Heath in securing the franchise for entrance into the Mormon capital. After these details are attended to Mr. Maloney will decide whether he prefers to remain in the railroad business or to return to Denver and take up the career of the Democratic party or to retire to private life. Mr. Heath, as he was leaving the Brown Palace hotel with Senator Kearns, announced that he had finally succeeded in inducing Mr. Maloney to accompany him to Salt Lake City.

Short Line Rushing.

The Oregon Short Line is rushing work on its Los Angeles extension. A lot of Italian laborers have been sent down to rapidly execute the grading and tracklaying on the new line and the work is to be prosecuted at a swinging gait hereafter.

Organizing in Spokane.

S. J. Kelley of Salt Lake is expected in Spokane soon, says the Spokesman-Review, to organize a branch division of the United Brotherhood of Railway Employees. He has been in Montana, where he has been delivering lectures, and has organized five large divisions of the new organization started on the Pacific coast January 27th by the employees of the Southern Pacific.

The organization, says Mr. Kelley, is but six months old and has a membership of between 5,000 and 6,000, with branch divisions in ten states. He says that the brotherhood is gaining

When the Lobsters got through with the Farmers at Lagoon yesterday afternoon it was discovered that they had won another game through some more of their bull headed luck. There are a few individuals, however who assert that it is not luck, that after all the Lobsters really can play baseball a little bit better than any other aggregation hereabouts, but for the vast majority of the fans are out for the lucky theory. It may be that the luck idea has been worked a little too strong, but let us see. Now, take for instance some of the plays made yesterday. Several times the Farmers hit the ball awful whiffs. On the start they looked good for at least two sacks and a tally, but here a where that annoying luck showed itself, stopped the ball in its mad career, and on two occasions made the most astounding double plays on record. This time the Lobsters' luck mounted out to left field and hovered over one Nagle. Newmeyer was at the bat and catching Borchers when he wasn't looking, sent a ball out left that certainly looked safe. Nagle misjudged it but was pushed under it by luck, caught it, fell down and rolled over. The umpire called the runner out. Misreading the situation, Borchers then there is that big fellow Borchers. Please explain what, if not luck, enables him to hold a team like the Lobsters down to form contemptible little hits?

Why don't this luck stroll around some other place? you ask. Don't know why that the Lobsters are so lucky that the luck stays with them all the time.

Umpire Walter Seare was accused of giving the game to Ogden, but for one thing that can be said about Walter, and that is, if he gives anybody the worst of it, it is unintentional. He gives every evidence of desiring to be absolutely fair and impartial. One decision which caused considerable comment occurred in the fourth inning. Two men were out and Bluth came to the bat. He hit to Newmeyer, who gathered in safely and threw to Bluth at first. He looked like he had a mile as they say but Bluth raised his shapely little foot just a trifle and Seare called the runner safe, caused the Ancient captain's anger to rise some.

Another decision received ungratefully was when Stoney hit to Clark and the latter fumbled it, but recovered himself in time to reach the sack. Stoney said tearing a big hole in the side line but he was called out. Luck? Sure!

There was little to the game except hitting and running and when the thing came to a close the Lobsters were twelve and Lagoon five. In those seventeen hits there were three home runs, three triples and a double. Here is the score in detail:

LAST NIGHT'S RACES.

"Baby" Gibson is Defeated in the Fifteen Mile Event.

With "Oh's" and gasps of surprise and disappointment, the large crowd at the Salt Palace saw last evening saw "Baby" Gibson defeated in a fifteen mile motor paced race by Clem Turville, one of the "motor brothers."

It was a good race from start to almost the finish and created a great deal of excitement. But few people thought an old war horse like Clem would be able to follow a swift pace for fifteen miles, but that is where they had something coming in the shape of a great big surprise. Charley told him before the first event came off that if he would hold the pace that he would give him the race and he would be his.

Like the winner until he allowed Turville to pass him. From that time the outcome was never in doubt, for the plucky little rider could not pass his stronger opponent. After the race he said that there was no use trying to beat the Turville's on their own motor. The time of the race was 26:32.

There was some real pretty riding in the three-quarter mile professional, and a track favorite won the event in a red hot finish that brought the crowd to its feet, yelling for all it was worth. King took first heat, Jack Green the second and Gus Lawson the third. W. E. Samuelson captured the dual in almost a dead heat, with Jack Green, the English champion.

The one mile handicap amateur saw the downfall of Eddie Smith. He has been getting all the money lately and State Handicapper Sharp concluded to give the others a chance. With a start of 60 yards Earl Clayton won the race in 2:02.5. Heagren second, Hume third, and Smith fourth.

Sporting Notes.

OME MARKED changes have been made in the league with reference to the percentage of the clubs now that the Park City regards the positions occupied by the teams, no change has been made. The Salt Lakes and Lobsters are boosted way up by having six games given to them, but the Lagoon team has been given seven games, having seven given to them. With a percentage of .794 and the season on the down hill grade it certainly looks like Ogden will be the champion against the Lobsters.

That was a bad spill that Grames, Angell and Hendrickson had last evening at the Salt Palace, and the riders were extremely fortunate in escaping without serious injury. The fall was the result of a little wild riding and inexperience. Hendrickson swung down on Angell and as they fell Grames smashed into them. He fell on his head and was unconscious for several seconds. During the excitement a lady in the grand stand fell back in a dead faint and it was fully five minutes before she revived. In the mixup Evans had several spots cut out of his wheel.

During the fifteen mile match race last evening there came very near being a dangerous brush between the two motorcyclists, and it was caused through nothing but carelessness. Julius and Charles Turville went up the bank to take Clem around Gibson and after they succeeded the other team tried it with the same result. The machines almost scraped. Had they not seen Clem Turville would have been cut off his wheel and some one would surely have been killed. A fall with a motorcycle nearly always ends fatal.

Denver Republican: President Packard was asked Monday why he did not retaliate on the invaders of the Western League and try to sign some of the players of those leagues. It was pointed out to him that Pitcher Hawley of Utah and Pitcher Jones of Los Angeles would be of immense use to the team. He refused to allow the captain to try to sign either of the men. "I am fighting that kind of price," he said, "and I cannot afford to go into that business myself."

Catcher Hausen of the Ogden team seems to have trouble wherever he goes, and is invariably "bawled out" by the bleachers. This happened again yesterday afternoon at Lagoon and Hausen attempted to go to the bleachers and get it harder than ever. He remarked that some of the rooters were "Salt Lake curs," and said that he would "spoil the face of one dirty cur" before he left the State. Someone wanted to know if he would do it with a baseball but like he hit a man in California, and so the root continued until some of the quiet members of the team restored peace.

W. F. King, who is certainly making a mark in the racing world, last night challenged the winner of the fifteen mile race to a race of ten miles motor-paced. Of course it means that if Clem Turville is willing the two riders will meet in the near future. King believes that he is good for ten miles behind good pace and says he has every reason to believe he can defeat Turville in that distance. King is riding in expertly good form this year and it would not be surprising if he were to hold his own in a ten mile race.

Capt. T. O. Angell, the architect who built the saucer track, returned to Butte this morning from a week's outing, and his first official act was to certify that the saucer was a full nine feet across the top, and that it was necessary by reason of the fact that Frank J. Hoffman, the speedy Californian, broke the world's amateur record for a mile, in competition on the track.

His claim for the record required the attest of the architect or official measurer, to give it recognition with the National Cycling association. Hoffman's claim will also be signed by the judges, timers and the referee of the track, and will be forwarded to A. G. Batchelder, chairman of the board of control of the N. C. A. in New York.
